JOINT MEETING AT BANFF.

A joint meeting of the Northern Association of Literary and Scientific Societies was held at Banff on Friday. There was a fairly representative gathering of members of the Banffshire Field Club and of kindred bodies in the North engaged in a common, useful, and interesting work.

VISIT TO THE MUSEUM.

In the afternoon the proceedings commenced with a visit to the fine collection in the Banff Museum, where the richness and variety of the specimens were inspected with much interest. Especially was there admired the fine collection of Ferguson relics, while the rare specimens of geology, armoury, &c., came in also for special attention.

Thereafter a meeting was held in the Academy Hall, at which Mr John Yeats, M.A., President of the Banffshire Field Club, presided.
